

Song Lyrics vs Poetry

Lyrics:

1. Theme and Emotion: Think about the story you want to tell or the emotion you want to convey. It could be love, heartbreak, joy, or something entirely unique.
2. Structure: Most songs have a structure like Verse-Chorus-Verse-Chorus-Bridge-Chorus. This structure helps in organizing your thoughts and makes the song easy to follow.
3. Rhymes and Rhythm: Play with rhyming schemes and rhythm. It adds musicality to your lyrics. Remember, it doesn't always have to rhyme.
4. Imagery and Metaphors: Use vivid imagery and metaphors to paint pictures with your words. This can make your lyrics more impactful and memorable.
5. Simplicity: Sometimes simple, direct lyrics can be the most powerful. Don't be afraid to keep it straightforward.

Poetry:

1. Theme and Tone: Decide on the theme and tone of your poem. Is it going to be reflective, celebratory, or sombre?
2. Form and Structure: There are many forms of poetry like sonnets, haikus, free verse, and more. Choose one that fits your vision.
3. Language and Imagery: Use descriptive language to create strong imagery. Be specific and detailed in your descriptions.
4. Sound Devices: Play with sound devices like alliteration, assonance, and consonance to give your poem a musical quality.
5. Emotions and Perspective: Dig deep into your emotions and present them from a unique perspective. Personal experiences can provide a rich source of inspiration.

Examples for Inspiration:

- For song lyrics, think of artists like Bob Dylan, Joni Mitchell, or Taylor Swift who are known for their storytelling abilities.
